Little Girl Lost: Red Riding Hood's Tale of Destruction

HYBRID: at 10 a.m.
Presenter: Martha Johnson-Olin, Ph.D., professor of English, TMCC (via Zoom)
Once upon a time a clever maiden played coy, asking about big eyes and large teeth to stall for time and save herself. She wielded a spear and she killed the “wolf” in her story. Her tale, however, would keep wandering the world, and soon, the clever maiden’s story was reduced to a warning about “stranger danger” in which a young girl is nearly destroyed for leaving the “correct” path. Let’s explore the history of Red Riding Hood and consider the tale's complex histories, international origins and current confused status. Presentation will be via Zoom, followed by live discussion facilitated by Alice Yucht.

Monthly Member Meetup: Volunteers will assist with online membership renewal

HYBRID: at 12 p.m.

Come to learn, share and meet new members. As a member-powered organization, it's important that all members — new and continuing — learn and work together to help us thrive.
